A History of Final Exercises
at the University of Virginia

So astute was Mr. Jefferson in determining the basic educational policy for the University of Virginia that the policy has seen very little change in the University's 197-year history. The colorful ceremony you will see today, however, would not have been held under Thomas Jefferson's original plan, which did not provide for degrees and diplomas. Although the early students of the University were highly respected for their knowledge, some of them petitioned the Board of Visitors for diplomas to improve their opportunities for employment.

Out of deference to the founder, the Board took no action on these requests during Jefferson's lifetime, but fifteen months after his death, it changed the policy and directed that plans be laid for the first “Public Day” (commencement). In July 1829, the first Public Day was held in the Dome Room of the Rotunda. The program was very long, and it included orations by students. By 1848, the program began with a procession led by students and involved a single address by a prominent person.

Public Day was held in the Dome Room until the Rotunda annex was completed in 1853. It was then held in the public hall of the annex until the Rotunda and the annex burned in 1895. When Cabell Hall was completed in 1898, the Public Day programs were held in its auditorium. President Alderman's inauguration in 1905 brought about the more formal procession as seen today. It is now led by a faculty grand marshal.

When the McIntire Amphitheatre was completed in 1921, it became the site for the final exercises. A sudden drenching rainstorm disrupted the 1949 ceremony, sending the soaked graduates and guests into any shelter they could find. The threat of sudden storms and the increased number of graduates caused President Colgate Darden to declare that the 1952 ceremony would be the last to be held in the amphitheatre. Since then, Finals have been held on the Lawn except in bad weather.

Even when the ceremonies were held in the amphitheatre, the participants marched from the Rotunda, down the Lawn to the site of the ceremony. Students have long considered it a high privilege to have the opportunity to walk down the Lawn at Finals, and today's students place an even greater importance on this privilege. So important to many of them is the ceremonial walk down the Lawn, that a number of students, cheated out of a ceremony on the Lawn by bad weather, “confirm” their graduation by processing down the Lawn after Finals.

Through 1961, the president conferred the degrees and handed each recipient a diploma. By this time, graduates numbered in the thousands. The ceremony had become much too lengthy and the logistics too complex. Beginning in 1962 and continuing today, degrees are conferred in a main ceremony by the president. Degree recipients and their guests then reassemble later in school and department ceremonies.
The Academic Procession

The Procession
The academic procession is led by the grand marshal of the University bearing the official silver and ebony mace. Most of the processioners wear the academic costume accepted by a majority of the principal institutions of higher learning in the United States, though certain academic officials, such as the rector of the University, wear particular costumes indicative of current office. The processional order is listed below.

The Gown
The processional gown is usually black; the design of the sleeves denotes the type of degree being conferred. The bachelor's sleeve is long and pointed. The master's sleeve has squared ends, with the arc of a circle near the bottom and a slit for the arm near the elbow. The doctoral sleeve is bell-shaped with three velvet bars. The doctoral robe has full-length velvet panels in front, either black or a color that symbolizes the wearer's field of learning.

The Hood
A separate ornamental fold hangs down the back of the gown, and its lining carries the colors of the college or university granting the degree (for the University of Virginia, orange and blue). An outside band of velvet varies in width according to the degree: two inches for bachelor's degree, three for the master's, and five for the doctorate. The color of the band and other velvet on the doctoral hood symbolizes the field of learning (such as dark blue for philosophy). The length of the hood also varies with the level of the degree: bachelor's, three feet; master's, three and one-half feet; and doctorate, four feet. Bachelor's and master's degree candidates often do not wear their hoods.

The Cap
The cap is usually the black mortarboard, decorated with a tassel. Gold tassels may be worn by holders of doctoral degrees, and some master's tassels are white. Generally, the colors of the tassels represent the principal fields of learning and are described below.

Rita F. Dove

Rita F. Dove is the Commonwealth Professor of English at the University of Virginia. She served as U.S. Poet Laureate from 1993 to 1995.

Ms. Dove received a B.A. summa cum laude from Miami University in 1973 and a M.F.A. from the University of Iowa in 1977. In 1974-75 she studied German literature as a Fulbright scholar at Universität Tübingen in Germany.

Ms. Dove's publications include nine poetry books, most recently On the Bus with Rosa Parks, American Smooth, and Sonata Mulattica; short story and essay collections; a novel; and the play The Darker Face of the Earth. The play premiered at the Oregon Shakespeare Festival in 1996 and was subsequently produced at the Kennedy Center in Washington and the Royal National Theatre in London. Her song cycle Seven for Luck, a collection of poems, was set to music by John Williams and premiered with the Boston Symphony Orchestra in 1998. For “America's Millennium,” the 1999/2000 White House New Year's celebration, Ms. Dove contributed – in a live reading at the Lincoln Memorial, accompanied by John Williams's music – a poem, Millenium Song, to Steven Spielberg's documentary The Unfinished Journey. In 2011 she edited The Penguin Anthology of Twentieth-Century American Poetry. A collection of the first 30 years of her poetry, Collected Poems 1974-2004, was released in May 2016.

Among her numerous literary and academic honors are the 1987 Pulitzer Prize in Poetry for her book Thomas and Beulah; the 1996 National Humanities Medal from President Clinton and the 2011 National Medal of Arts from President Obama (making her the only poet who received both presidential medals); the Fulbright Lifetime Achievement Medal; the Heinz Award; and 25 honorary doctorates, most recently from Yale University.

A member of the American Philosophical Society, the Academy of Arts and Sciences, and the Academy of Arts and Letters, Ms. Dove has served as president of the Association of Writers & Writing Programs, senator of Phi Beta Kappa, and as chancellor of the Academy of American Poets.

The Good Old Song

That good old song of Wah-hoo-wah,

We'll sing it o'er and o'er;

It cheers our hearts and warms our blood

To hear them shout and roar.

We come from old Virginia

Where all is bright and gay;

Let's all join hands and give a yell

For the dear old UVA.
