A History of Final Exercises at the University of Virginia

So astute was Mr. Jefferson in determining the basic educational policy for the University of Virginia that the policy has seen very little change in the University's 199-year history. The colorful ceremony you will see today, however, would not have been held under Thomas Jefferson's original plan, which did not provide for degrees and diplomas. Although the early students of the University were highly respected for their knowledge, some of them petitioned the Board of Visitors for diplomas to improve their opportunities for employment.

Out of deference to the founder, the Board took no action on these requests during Jefferson's lifetime, but fifteen months after his death, it changed the policy and directed that plans be laid for the first "Public Day" (commencement). In July 1829, the first Public Day was held in the Dome Room of the Rotunda. The program was very long, and it included orations by students. By 1848, the program began with a procession led by students and involved a single address by a prominent person.

Public Day was held in the Dome Room until the Rotunda annex was completed in 1853. It was then held in the public hall of the annex until the Rotunda and the annex burned in 1895. When Cabell Hall was completed in 1898, the Public Day programs were held in its auditorium. President Alderman's inauguration in 1905 brought about the more formal procession as seen today. It is now led by a faculty grand marshal.

When the McIntire Amphitheatre was completed in 1921, it became the site for the final exercises. A sudden drenching rainstorm disrupted the 1949 ceremony, sending the soaked graduates and guests into any shelter they could find. The threat of sudden storms and the increased number of graduates caused President Colgate Darden to declare that the 1952 ceremony would be the last to be held in the amphitheatre. Since then, Finals have been held on the Lawn except in bad weather.

Even when the ceremonies were held in the amphitheatre, the participants marched from the Rotunda, down the Lawn to the site of the ceremony. Students have long considered it a high privilege to have the opportunity to walk down the Lawn at Finals, and today's students place an even greater importance on this privilege. So important to many of them is the ceremonial walk down the Lawn, that a number of students, cheated out of a ceremony on the Lawn by bad weather, "confirm" their graduation by processing down the Lawn after Finals.

Through 1961, the president conferred the degrees and handed each recipient a diploma. By this time, graduates numbered in the thousands. The ceremony had become much too lengthy and the logistics too complex. Beginning in 1962 and continuing today, degrees are conferred in a main ceremony by the president. Degree recipients and their guests then reassemble later in school and department ceremonies.

The Academic Procession

The Procession

The academic procession is led by the grand marshal of the University bearing the official silver and ebony mace. Most of the processioners wear the academic costume accepted by a majority of the principal institutions of higher learning in the United States, though certain academic officials, such as the rector of the University, wear particular costumes indicative of current office. The processional order is listed below.

The Gown

The processional gown is usually black; the design of the sleeves denotes the type of degree being conferred. The bachelor's sleeve is long and pointed. The master's sleeve has squared ends, with the arc of a circle near the bottom and a slit for the arm near the elbow. The doctoral sleeve is bell-shaped with three velvet bars. The doctoral robe has full-length velvet panels in front, either black or a color that symbolizes the wearer's field of learning.

The Hood

A separate ornamental fold hangs down the back of the gown, and its lining carries the colors of the college or university granting the degree (for the University of Virginia, orange and blue). An outside band of velvet varies in width according to the degree: two inches for bachelor's degree, three for the master's, and five for the doctorate. The color of the band and other velvet on the doctoral hood symbolizes the field of learning (such as dark blue for philosophy). The length of the hood also varies with the level of the degree: bachelor's, three feet; master's, three and one-half feet; and doctorate, four feet. Bachelor's and master's degree candidates often do not wear their hoods.

The Cap

The cap is usually the black mortarboard, decorated with a tassel. Gold tassels may be worn by holders of doctoral degrees. Generally, the colors of the tassels represent the principal fields of learning and are described below.

B I C E N T E N N I A L

In celebration of the University's bicentennial, the Class of 2018 will wear a commemorative zipper pull with their Final Exercises regalia. The bicentennial design was inspired by Thomas Jefferson's original renderings for the Rotunda. Within the design are seminal references to architectural elements in the Academical Village: the serpentine walls can be seen in the curves of the number two; the profile of the Rotunda in the middle zero; and the aerial view of the Rotunda dome in the final zero. The University student body selected the mark by popular vote. The University of Virginia's Bicentennial Commemoration is a celebration of UVA's achievements, a recognition of the imperfections of its past, and a visualization of its future.

Finals Speaker

Saturday, May 19 and Sunday, May 20

Teresa A. Sullivan

Teresa A. Sullivan is the University of Virginia's eighth president. Since taking office in 2010, she has led UVA through a period of significant progress. In 2012, Ms. Sullivan established the University's new strategic plan, the Cornerstone Plan. The Cornerstone Plan encompassed input from 10,000 alumni, parents, students, faculty, and staff, and it serves as a road-map for the University's future.

In 2013, Ms. Sullivan launched the President's Commission on Slavery and the University, a group charged with exploring the University's historical relationship with slavery. In 2017, she led the planning efforts for the University's Bicentennial Commemoration, a celebration of the University's 200-year history and a visualization of its future. Most recently, Ms. Sullivan announced the formation of the President's Commission on the University in the Age of Segregation. This commission will explore the University's role in the period of racial segregation that occurred between 1865 and 1965.

Ms. Sullivan is a respected scholar in labor force demography, and is the author or coauthor of six books and many scholarly articles. She is a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts & Sciences and of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Ms. Sullivan came to the University of Virginia from the University of Michigan, where she was provost and executive vice president for academic affairs. Prior to her work at Michigan, she was executive vice chancellor for academic affairs for the University of Texas System and a faculty member at the University of Texas at Austin.

Ms. Sullivan is a graduate of Michigan State University's James Madison College, and earned her doctoral degree in sociology from the University of Chicago. She is married to Douglas Laycock, the Robert E. Scott Distinguished Professor of Law at the University of Virginia. They have two adult sons.

The Good Old Song

That good old song of Wah-hoo-wah,

We'll sing it o'er and o'er;

It cheers our hearts and warms our blood

To hear them shout and roar.

We come from old Virginia

Where all is bright and gay;

Let's all join hands and give a yell

For the dear old UVA.
