A History of Final Exercises
at the University of Virginia

So astute was Mr. Jefferson in determining the basic educational policy for the University of Virginia that the policy has seen very little change in the University's 204-year history. The colorful ceremony you will see today, however, would not have been held under Thomas Jefferson's original plan, which did not provide for degrees and diplomas. Although the early students of the University were highly respected for their knowledge, some of them petitioned the Board of Visitors for diplomas to improve their opportunities for employment.

Out of deference to the founder, the Board took no action on these requests during Jefferson's lifetime, but fifteen months after his death, it changed the policy and directed that plans be laid for the first “Public Day” (commencement). In July 1829, the first Public Day was held in the Dome Room of the Rotunda. The program was very long, and it included orations by students. By 1848, the program began with a procession led by students and involved a single address by a prominent person.

Public Day was held in the Dome Room until the Rotunda annex was completed in 1853. It was then held in the public hall of the annex until the Rotunda and the annex burned in 1895. When Cabell Hall was completed in 1898, the Public Day programs were held in its auditorium. President Alderman's inauguration in 1905 brought about the more formal procession as seen today. It is now led by a faculty grand marshal.

When the McIntire Amphitheatre was completed in 1921, it became the site for the final exercises. A sudden drenching rainstorm disrupted the 1949 ceremony, sending the soaked graduates and guests into any shelter they could find. The threat of sudden storms and the increased number of graduates caused President Colgate Darden to declare that the 1952 ceremony would be the last to be held in the amphitheatre. Since then, Finals have been held on the Lawn except in bad weather.

Even when the ceremonies were held in the amphitheatre, the participants marched from the Rotunda, down the Lawn to the site of the ceremony. Students have long considered it a high privilege to have the opportunity to walk down the Lawn at Finals, and today's students place an even greater importance on this privilege. So important to many of them is the ceremonial walk down the Lawn, that a number of students, cheated out of a ceremony on the Lawn by bad weather, “confirm” their graduation by processing down the Lawn after Finals.

Through 1961, the president conferred the degrees and handed each recipient a diploma. By this time, graduates numbered in the thousands. The ceremony had become much too lengthy and the logistics too complex. Beginning in 1962 and continuing today, degrees are conferred in a main ceremony by the president. Degree recipients and their guests then reassemble later in school and department ceremonies.
The Academic Procession

The Procession
The academic procession is led by the grand marshal of the University bearing the official silver and ebony mace. Most of the processioners wear the academic costume accepted by a majority of the principal institutions of higher learning in the United States, though certain academic officials, such as the rector of the University, wear particular costumes indicative of current office. The processional order is listed below.

The Gown
The processional gown is usually black; the design of the sleeves denotes the type of degree being conferred. The bachelor's sleeve is long and pointed. The master's sleeve has squared ends, with the arc of a circle near the bottom and a slit for the arm near the elbow. The doctoral sleeve is bell-shaped with three velvet bars. The doctoral robe has full-length velvet panels in front, either black or a color that symbolizes the wearer's field of learning.

The Hood
A separate ornamental fold hangs down the back of the gown, and its lining carries the colors of the college or university granting the degree (for the University of Virginia, orange and blue). An outside band of velvet varies in width according to the degree: two inches for bachelor's degree, three for the master's, and five for the doctorate. The color of the band and other velvet on the doctoral hood symbolizes the field of learning (such as dark blue for philosophy). The length of the hood also varies with the level of the degree: bachelor's, three feet; masters, three and one-half feet; and doctorate, four feet. Bachelor's and master's degree candidates often do not wear their hoods.

The Cap
The cap is usually the black mortarboard, decorated with a tassel. Gold tassels may be worn by holders of doctoral degrees. Generally, the colors of the tassels represent the principal fields of learning and are described below.

Carla Williams is the Vice President for Intercollegiate Athletics at the University of Virginia. Her appointment at UVA in October 2017 made her the first female African-American director of athletics at a Power Five conference institution.

A native of LaGrange, Georgia, Ms. Williams earned her bachelor’s and master’s degrees from the University of Georgia and her Ph.D. from Florida State University. At Georgia, she was a three-year starter for the women’s basketball team as a student-athlete from 1985 to 1989. Prior to coming to UVA, Ms. Williams served as an athletics administrator at the University of Georgia for 13 years and was named deputy director of athletics in 2015. During her tenure at Georgia, its athletics teams won 16 NCAA team championships and 37 Southeastern Conference titles.

Ms. Williams has a forward-thinking approach to leading Virginia Athletics. Her focus is on providing opportunities for student-athletes to maximize their college experience while establishing a culture and support system for the sport programs to compete for championships. Her commitment to academic excellence is unwavering.

The success of UVA Athletics under Ms. Williams and her involvement in some of college athletics’ top issues have not gone unnoticed. During her tenure, UVA has won multiple national championships and 16 ACC Championships, and has set record numbers for placement on the ACC Academic Honor Roll. In addition, UVA has achieved the highest grade-point average totals in program history and has been recognized by the NCAA for outstanding achievement on academic progress reports. Since 2020, seven UVA student-athletes have been named ACC Scholar-Athlete of the Year for their respective sports.

Ms. Williams was named the Women Leaders in College Sports 2019 Administrator of the Year for all NCAA Division I FBS athletics programs. In 2021, the Sports Business Journal named her one of its finalists for Division I Athletics Director of the Year. In 2023, the Women in Sports and Events organization recognized her as one of the four recipients of its Woman of the Year Awards based on accomplishments and significant contributions to the business of sports.

Ms. Williams was selected to work on the NCAA’s Name Image Likeness Legislation Solutions Group to examine student-athlete name, image, and likeness rights and is a member of the NCAA Federal and State Legislation Working Group. She was named to the executive committee of the recently formed Black AD Alliance, which was established to promote the growth, development, and elevation of Black athletics administrators at the Division I level.

Finals Speaker

Sunday, May 21, 2023

Louis P. Nelson

Louis Nelson is Professor of Architectural History and the Vice Provost for Academic Outreach at the University of Virginia.

Mr. Nelson earned a bachelor’s degree from The College of William and Mary and master’s and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Delaware. He has served on the faculty at UVA for more than 22 years.

Mr. Nelson is a specialist in the built environments of the early modern Atlantic world, with published work on the American South, the Caribbean, and West Africa, and is a leading advocate for place-based public history. At UVA and in Charlottesville, this work has taken the form of scholarship that contextualizes the four monuments installed at the height of Jim Crow segregation, walking tours and movies that seek to disseminate a broader understanding of how racism is inscribed in the local landscape, a university renaming commission, partnership on a new website for and a narrative interpretation of the Memorial to Enslaved Laborers, and co-editing both a digital series on UVA and the History of Race and the book Educated in Tyranny: Slavery at Thomas Jefferson’s University. He was also the lead author and co-PI on Race, Place and Equity, a $5M Andrew Mellon Foundation funded grant.

Mr. Nelson is an accomplished scholar, with two book-length monographs published by the University of North Carolina and Yale University Presses, five edited collections of essays, two terms as senior co-editor of Buildings and Landscapes—the leading English language forum for scholarship on vernacular architecture—and numerous articles. He is also a celebrated teacher, having won a University-wide teaching award in 2007 and serving as the 2008 UVA nominee for a state-wide Outstanding Faculty Award. His books and articles have been awarded the 2017 Abbott Lowell Cummings Prize, the 2017 John Brickerhoff Jackson Prize, the 2016 Allen G. Noble Prize, the 2016 Best Essay Prize from the Southeast Chapter of the Society of Architectural Historians (SESAH), the 2015 Bishir Prize, the SESAH 2010 Outstanding Book of the Year, the SESAH 2008 Best Article of the Year, among others.

The Good Old Song

That good old song of Wah-hoo-wah,

We’ll sing it o’er and o’er;

It cheers our hearts and warms our blood

To hear them shout and roar.

We come from old Virginia

Where all is bright and gay;

Let’s all join hands and give a yell

For the dear old UVA.
